ABOUT THE PROGRAM
The Master of Arts in Communication is a fully online 30-credit graduate degree designed to develop and refine communication skills for multiple audiences. With a strong emphasis on theory, research, analysis, and writing, students develop a sense of the varied communication needs of organizations. Our diverse student population brings experience of many organizational settings to our classes, which allows rich discussions of how differences in organizational structure and culture impact communication. As students move through our curriculum, they are introduced to leadership styles, take on leadership roles in project development, and develop strategies for dealing with conflict. Through a combination of group and individual projects, students are encouraged to develop expertise in their area of interest, connecting theory to real-world situations from day one.

The strong leadership content in this degree sets it apart from many other graduate degrees in Communication. It infuses the values and skill sets needed to build relationships and act as a catalyst for change, enabling graduates to transform their environments. The balance of theory and application coupled with Marist’s thesis/non-thesis option provides the educational flexibility for students seeking professional advancement as well as those continuing on to doctoral work in Communication.

At the end of this program students should be able to:
- Address communication questions from a variety of theoretical perspectives.
- Write effectively for multiple audiences.
- Conduct research in communication.
- Demonstrate strong analytical skills.
- Understand leadership styles.
- Develop strategies for dealing with conflict.
- Evaluate communication questions from multiple ethical perspectives.

FORMAT
Part-Time Option – The part-time option is offered fully online, with 8-week intensive courses, allowing students to complete their M.A. in two years.

Full-Time Option – The full-time option is offered fully online, allowing students to complete their M.A. in one year.

The application deadline for the full-time option is May 1. The application deadline for the part-time option is August 1.
THESIS/NON-THESIS OPTION
The Master’s thesis represents a guided research effort by a graduate student seeking to demonstrate mastery of the theoretical and applied knowledge he or she has gained in the Master’s program. The thesis option at Marist is highly competitive and requires a formal approval by the Graduate Committee. Students who wish to apply for this option must notify the graduate director of their intent to pursue a thesis by October 1 of their first year. Students will submit a formal proposal for a thesis and must be granted permission to proceed by the Graduate Committee. Upon approval of the proposal, research will be conducted and, once completed, will be approved, presented, and defended before a thesis committee. A limited number of students will be accepted into the thesis track each year.

For those not seeking research opportunities or transition to a Ph.D., the non-thesis option requires a final seminar course and comprehensive examination.

COMPREHENSIVE EXAMS
Comprehensive exams will cover three areas: Communication Theory, Research Methods, and an Applied Area in Communication. The Graduate Committee will grade the exams. Full- and part-time students will take exams in the third week of August after completing all coursework. If a student fails, he/she can petition the Graduate Committee to retake the exam during the first week of February.

ADMISSION
Admission to the M.A. in Communication is competitive and based on undergraduate performance, a satisfactory score on the Graduate Record Exam (GRE), and a candidate’s professional credentials or demonstrated interest in the Communication field. The Admissions Committee is committed to looking at the whole student and will evaluate professional and academic qualifications holistically.

Applicants to the Master of Arts in Communication must submit:
- a completed application for graduate admission;
- a $50 non-refundable application fee;
- official transcripts from all undergraduate (including two-year colleges) and graduate institutions including evidence of an earned BA or BS degree in Communication or a related field from an accredited college or university with a cumulative GPA of 3.0;
- an official score report showing an acceptable score on the Graduate Record Examination (GRE);
- a current résumé;
- a written statement of purpose;
- three letters of recommendation.

NOTE: Marist graduate programs require a minimum of a baccalaureate degree or its equivalent from an accredited college or university.
DEGREE CONFERRAL REQUIREMENTS
To qualify for the Master of Arts in Communication, a student must:

- complete a total of 30 credits as described in the curriculum requirements with a passing grade on the comprehensive exams or a successful defense of the thesis;
- maintain a 3.0 cumulative grade-point average.

STUDENT ADVISEMENT
The Director of the Graduate Program in Communication will assign an advisor to students in the M.A. program. Students are encouraged to contact their advisor to discuss academic progress and planning.

ACADEMIC STANDING
The maintenance of a minimum cumulative grade-point average (GPA) of 3.0 is required for good academic standing. Students must have a cumulative 3.0 GPA after completion of one semester of full-time study or its equivalent. Any student whose GPA falls below that required for good standing, or who receives a letter grade of F, will be subject to academic review and may be placed on probation or dismissed from the program. Students placed on probation will receive a statement of requirements necessary to achieve good standing and will be given a limited time period in which to meet these requirements. Failure to achieve probationary requirements will result in dismissal.

Graduate Courses in Communication

COMG 500
Communication Theory
3 Credits
This course examines a variety of communication theories, how they are constructed, tested, and revised. Several theories are examined and critiqued (e.g., systems, discourse analysis, critical) with reference to their theoretical traditions. Connections between theory and research methods are explored, as well as the need for consistencies across theoretical and methodological approaches.

COMG 501
Research Strategies and Methods
3 Credits
This course provides a solid foundation for students to understand the process of fact-finding as well as knowledge creation. Students are provided with an in-depth understanding of data analysis and data-collection methods (qualitative and quantitative) commonly used by communications researchers as well as ways of synthesizing and analyzing scholarly literature.

COMG 502
Persuasion
3 Credits
This course examines theories of persuasion and reviews persuasion’s role in society. Students will gain increased familiarity with concepts, theories, methods, and research findings; increased ability to apply theories in persuasion; increased ability to compare and evaluate approaches; increased sensitivity to problems of ethics in persuasion; and increased sophistication as persuader and one who is being persuaded.

COMG 503
Media Relations
3 Credits
This course will provide students with an understanding of how organizational relationships with news media influence management of issues and public relations, and how these communication functions are essential to effective strategic management and leadership of organizations. The course will focus on analysis of advanced cases in media relations.

COMG 600
Organizational Communication
3 Credits
This course will provide students an historical and thematic overview of organizational communication theory and research. It will provide a systematic but critical basis on which to discuss communication in complex organizations and will analyze assumptions and pragmatic solutions associated with these theories. It will also enhance students’ research, analysis, writing, and presentation skills.

COMG 601
Interpersonal Communication
3 Credits
This course will introduce students to basic patterns of human communication in order that they may develop a better understanding of the interpersonal-communication process. Through exploration of theories of communication, perception, self-perception, language, and nonverbal interaction, students will develop their theoretical and practical understanding of how interpersonal relationships are achieved through communication in a variety of settings, including family, friendship, romantic, workplace, and intercultural encounters.
