The Center for Civic Engagement and Leadership is a resource for students and faculty who are interested in partnering with local organizations to address important social concerns. We support faculty in their community-based teaching, develop and implement cohort-based internship programs, and support student-led community-based initiatives. We are pleased to share these brief highlights from the 2023-2024 academic year.

This trip is a collaboration between the CCEL, SLA and Career Services. Students from a variety of majors attended the three day trip which included an alumni reception, multiple career panels, and a FBI Careers Tour. The students learned a lot about public service career opportunities, developed their network with Marist alumni, and explored the historic sites in our nation’s capital!

The Albany Summer Internship Program enables students to gain an insider’s perspective on political communications, politics, and public policy in New York State’s capital city. ASIP interns work at nonprofit advocacy and lobbying organizations as well as state legislative offices.

Welcome to the Marist Community Garden!

What is it?
The garden was a student’s Honors Thesis Project, proposed in 2017, to enhance academics, providing places to learn through hands-on experiences & focus on community building and campus engagement.

How does it work?
There are 13 beds total, current bed stewards include:
- Physical Plant
- Dr. Sonya Roy’s Fashion Dye Bed (pictured to the right)
- SEED club (pictured above)
- Campus Ministry
- Garden Club
- Dr. Campisi’s classes
- Dr. Daria Hansen
- Prof. Steve Schwartz

At least half of all food that is grown in the garden must be donated to either the Marist community or to a Dutchess County non-profit that aids in food availability.

100 pounds of produce from the garden were donated to local food security organizations this year.

145 students were engaged in Campus Garden activities.

@semestersweepout
The Center for Civic Engagement and Leadership is a team effort. The hard work of our student staff and excellent administrative support from our professional staff, combined with the willingness of faculty colleagues to spend time planning and implementing engaging community-based learning courses and initiatives makes everything possible. Our relationships with campus departments are so vital and give our students access to resources that enable them to do their work.
