

Welcome to World Literature (ENG 170L)!

My name is Gabriel Chagas-PereiraSouza, and I will be your instructor this summer. I am excited to work with you as we explore literary texts from different cultures, historical moments, and global traditions.

This course does not require a textbook. All readings and assignment guidelines will be available on Brightspace. Please make sure to complete the assigned readings by Friday each week. Throughout the course, you will submit a short weekly reflection post (120–200 words), a midterm paper due on July 3, and a final paper due on July 31.

My teaching and research focus on World Literature, the transatlantic world, and the African diaspora. At Marist, I also teach African American Literature and American Modernism. You can learn more about me and my work here: Dr. Gabriel Chagas, English Department

If you have any questions during the semester, please feel free to contact me at gabrielchagas.pereirasouza@marist.edu. I would also be happy to meet with you on Zoom to discuss the readings, assignments, or strategies for succeeding in the course.

I look forward to learning with you this summer!
